Report on International Tiger Day Celebration – 2025

Details of the programme

Title: International Tiger Day Celebration – 2025

Date of event: 29th July 2025

No. of Participants: 07

Highlights of the Programme:

International Tiger Day was celebrated on 29th July 2025 with great enthusiasm and awareness among the students of the department. The main objective of the celebration was to spread awareness about the importance of tiger conservation, the threats faced by this magnificent species, and the need to protect their natural habitats for maintaining ecological balance. As part of the celebration, a Poster Making Competition was organized on the theme "Save Tigers, Save Nature." A total of seven students participated in the event, showcasing their creativity and concern for wildlife through their colorful and informative posters. The posters highlighted various issues such as deforestation, poaching, and the declining tiger population, along with messages promoting wildlife protection and sustainable coexistence with nature.
